

HELP THE CHILDREN

In keeping children in school the assistance of parents is always essential in maintaining regularity of attendance. Indifference of a father or mother to a boy's welfare may often lead him to delinquency in this respect. If parents would show more concern about the work their children are doing and visit the schools more often, the teachers would be encouraged in their efforts and the results. The teachers are always ready to cooperate with the parents and in many cases give valuable advice. Cooperation between parents and teachers often accomplishes wonderful results.

Shirley P. Brown, George H. Brown, and Elmer Moulton, attended the Rochester Fair.

COST OF CRIME AT HIGH POINT

(By Associated Press)
Chicago, Sept. 29.—The cost of crime in the United States has reached its highest point, that of the annual budget of the nation which was more than three and one-half billions of dollars, according to a report prepared by the protective committee of the American Bankers' Association. The preliminary sessions of the 50th annual convention were held today. The report will show how crime is greater in some states without state police than in either Massachusetts, Connecticut, Maryland, New Jersey, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and New York, which have state police. Forgeries, according to insurance estimates, included in the report may reach one hundred million dollars in 1924, but the net loss not covered by insurance probably will not be above $100,000.

MAINE SEEKS REPEAL OF PRIMARY LAW

Augusta—A bill to repeal the Direct Primary law will be introduced early in the coming session of the Maine Legislature. The Publicity Mill Tax Bill will provide for the use of the fractional part of a mill of the regular state tax levy for advertising, the State of Maine. The fund so created would be used for the dissemination of literature setting forth the resources and advantages of the State of Maine. Such literature would be distributed through the State Librarian, the Department of Agriculture or other State departments, acting in cooperation with the Maine Publicity Bureau.

Such a plan of publicity is used in some of the Southern and Western states and also in cities in Florida and Southern California and has had excellent results, it is said. A bill looking to the repeal of the Direct Primary Law through its submission to a popular referendum, is being drawn, it is said, also one which would modify the present law so as to provide for Convention endorsed candidates. The second bill is said to be along similar lines to the one introduced by Senator Alexander Spears of Westbrook in the last session.

In certain quarters the opinion is being expressed that the Legislature ought not to take up legislation which would repeal or weaken the primary law, since the platform of both parties were silent on the matter. Those who favor either a referendum on the primary or important changes in the law take the ground that it is just as logical to seek changes in the primary system in the next legislature without party declaration on the subject, as it was to fail to put the law up to popular verdict, despite party declarations that it should be done, as was the case in the last legislature.

Battle Which Started Saturday Morning Continues on Six Miles Front

(By Associated Press)
Shanghai, Sept. 29.—Hundreds of Chinese soldiers were killed and many others wounded today on a six mile front from Niansang to Mulu when armies of rival military governors fighting for possession of Shanghai continued hostilities with impetuous intensity. According to a witness, both sides were dropping the line with shrapnel. Numerous relief stations behind the six miles Chiansang front were filled with wounded while scores of others were arriving on stretchers. The dead have been left where they fell and this practice has resulted in a carrion odor extending over the whole battle area. The offensive which has resulted in continuous firing since it opened on Saturday morning has enabled the Chekiang forces to drive the Kiangsu troops back six miles, according to Gen. Hsia Chao-Lin, commander of the Chekiang forces in the center of activity.

UNIVERSALISTS END CONVENTION

Marlboro, Sept. 27—Robert L. Whitney of Marlboro was elected president of the New Hampshire convention at the closing session of the 92nd annual conference of the state Universalists at Marlboro Thursday. The state convention, opened Tuesday. Manchester was selected as the convention city for 1925. H. H. Metcalf of Concord was made a life member of the convention at the closing session. It is the first time in the 92 years of the convention's existence that this honor has been conferred.

The convention endorsed the enforcement of the prohibition laws and declared itself in favor of the ratification of its proposed child labor amendment to the federal constitution by the New Hampshire State Legislature. The convention also urged better support for the Japanese mission and rural churches.

Other officers elected at the Thursday business meeting were: Rev. Asa M. Bradley of Kingston, secretary; Rev. George F. Fortier, Morrisville, Vt., superintendent of churches; George E. Danforth, Nashua, vice president; Arthur H. Britton, Concord, trustee for three years; Rev. Alfred J. Cardall, Portsmouth, preacher to the occasional sermon; Rev. Edgar R. Walker, Winchester, alternate; Rev. H. A. Parkhurst, secretary of the fellowship committee; Rev. C. B. Estler, Claremont, Rev. A. J. Cardall, H. A. Stevens, Manchester, and F. S. Leonard, Hinsdale, other committee members.

The Woman's Missionary Association elected officers as follows: Mrs. Anna Parkhurst, Woodsville, president; Mrs. F. E. Chase, Concord, vice president and Mrs. Olive Kimball, Alstead, secretary. Following the election, H. H. Metcalf gave an address, "Retrospection." Mr. Parkhurst gave the occasional sermon at which communion was taken. Various addresses were given at the evening meeting. A devotional program, business and addresses occupied the convention on the opening day. Rev. N. Addison Baker of Keene assisted.

PLAN MAGNIFICENT SHRINE FOR WILSON

Washington, Sept. 27—Indications that the National Episcopal Cathedral here will remain the permanent resting place for Woodrow Wilson's body are seen in plans of the cathedral foundation, which call for a more magnificent shrine than the crypt under Bethlehem chapel, where the body now lies.

Although the cathedral is not expected to be complete for about five years, it is understood that plans have been drawn to place the proposed shrine in the main part of the building.

Mrs. Wilson recently had measurements taken in the chapel for a more appropriate memorial tablet than the plain stone block which simply bears the name of Woodrow Wilson and the dates of birth and death.

N. H. APPLES ARE GROWING IN FAVOR

Concord, Sept. 27—There was once a good deal of truth in the saying that people who live in New Hampshire knew little of the high quality of apples raised in New Hampshire orchards, because all the best apples were shipped to Boston, New York and Liverpool. Undoubtedly, a good deal of the finest fruit still goes out of the state or out of the country, but apparently more of it is consumed at home than formerly. Anyway, show windows of Concord grocery and fruit stores have lately been filled with beautiful apples, every pile surmounted by a placard indicating that they were harvested in Canterbury, Epsom, Boscawen, Hopkinton or some other nearby agricultural town. And purchasers are authority for the statement that these apples are as good in flavor as in outward appearance.

SALTIER THE OCEAN THE BLUER IT IS

The Atlantic is putting on its usual color show for the autumn tourist. It is exhibiting a decided preference for blue, with soft foamy white ruffles. Sometimes it is wearing sage greens, deep indigo or royal purple.

Globe trotters will find the Mediterranean and the Caribbean tricked out in sapphire blue, the Red Sea in varying shades of henna, the Yellow Sea in beige and tan, the shallows of the Gulf of Mexico in a soft turquoise, and the Antarctic in olive green, according to a bulletin issued from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

In order to put on such a pleasing display of shade and hue, the seas have summoned to their aid many and varied hosts, notable among which are warmth and cold, sunlight and shadow, sand, silt, and possible volcanic dust, salt, lime, and various and sundry kinds of diatoms and algae.

Absolutely pure water is a clear blue color because the blue rays of sunlight are not absorbed by the water as the red rays are. Thus the open ocean seems intensely blue. Distilled water has a greenish cast on account of the impurities which remain after the distillation. This makes it clear why the shallow water in bays and estuaries is green or yellowish green. One explanation of the olive-green of the ocean in the vicinity of the South Pole is that it contains enormous quantities of diatoms in suspension.

Sometimes the ocean wears a gray gown, but that usually happens when the clouds shut out the sunlight and then in respect for the grim aspect of the frowning skies it subdues the tones of its garment.

Two factors contribute largely to the blueness of the Mediterranean: there are few large rivers, which usually bring enormous quantities of impurities flowing into it, and there is a constant stream of salt water pouring into it from the Atlantic Ocean through the Strait of Gibraltar.

It is said by some oceanographers that the blue of sea water bears a direct ratio to its saltiness. As an example of this, the band of tropical waters extending about 30 degrees on each side of the Equator, where there is a tremendous evaporation under a blazing sun, is cited. It is true that these waters are very salty and an exquisite azure in color. On the other hand, the Arctic and Antarctic waters, which are cold and less salt, are vivid green.

The Yellow Sea derives its golden tints from the sediment brought to it by the Yellow River and several other streams rising near the desert areas in Western China. Scientists also believe that the billions of minute living organisms found in its waters helped give it its name.

In January, 1909, a peculiar phenomenon was observed in the Atlantic Ocean. Running parallel with the clear blue waters of the Gulf Stream, from Cape Florida to Cape Hatteras was a yellow river three miles wide. It lasted for a few weeks and then faded away into the surrounding ocean. Some cataclysm on the face of the deep, probably of volcanic origin, had evidently set this yellow stream in motion.

The dull reddish tint of the Red Sea is imparted to it by millions of microscopic algae. A host of the minute dinoflagellate sometimes will redden the ocean for miles.

The lovely blue of the waters surrounding the coral islands of the South Seas, which have long been famous in song and story, is said to be due to the calcium carbonate which is held in solution.

The degree of penetration of light into water is a contributing factor in the color of various bodies of water. The Saguenay River, a tributary of the St. Lawrence from the north, is somber and impressive because its waters seem almost black. It winds through high hills which shut out the light, and its bed is cut 600 feet deeper than that of the river into which it flows.

In 1901 the sea off the California coast turned almost black, the waters of Santa Cruz Bay becoming particularly inky, but no satisfactory explanation has ever been offered of the occurrence.

JACOBS SPEAKS ON GOOD ROADS

N. H. Hotel Association
Holds Annual Meeting at Hanover

Hanover, Sept. 29.—"Good roads are the making of good states," said President N. P. M. Jacobs of the New Hampshire Hotel Association, at the annual banquet of the organization here Saturday night, as he made a demand of the incoming Legislature that it should approve a bond issue of $2,000,000 for the construction of new highways. The sentiment was cheered to the echo by the 150 hotel men and their wives who had come from all parts of the state to attend one of the most interesting conventions in years.

President Jacobs' remark was made in the presence of Frederick E. Everett, state highway commissioner, who had explained what his department was doing in road work with the money obtained from automobile fees and from the gasoline tax. Later, when Mr. Everett was asked if there was any prospect of the Legislature's approving a bond issue, large or

DR. YOUNG DIES AT ROCHESTER

Rochester, Sept. 29.—After a long illness Dr. Stephen Young died Sunday at the Rochester hospital, where he underwent an operation about a week ago.

Dr. Young was born in Stratford, Oct. 22, 1854. He was educated at Austen Cate academy, Berwick academy, Dartmouth college and was graduated from Long Island college, on Brooklyn, N. Y., in 1881. While at the latter college he paid his way by singing in the Episcopal church at Ninth avenue, and later for 10 years was tenor soloist in the Congregational church at Dover. At Dartmouth college he was a track man and held the record for jumping for a long time.

Dr. Young commenced the practice of medicine in East Rochester, where he remained 17 years, then located in Dover, remaining 13 years, ten of which he was city physician. He was chairman of the Dover board of health for several years and surgeon for the Dover, Somersworth and Rochester electric railroad. He came to Rochester to reside in 1911, continuing his practice at his residence, on South Main street. He has been consulting physician of the Rochester hospital and was a member of the First Congregational church. He was a Knight of Pythias, an E. R., a member of the Three automobiles which were in the garages were destroyed. The property loss is but partially covered by insurance.

ON WITH THE HUNT!

The world is full of hunters running down facts, capturing facts, taming facts, making facts work for them—and for you. Edison setting traps for voices . . . Marconi stabbing at the sky.

You, too, are hunting facts. Theories won't light your home, burn in your furnace, tick off time for you, clothe you, feed you, grow in your garden, carry you to work.

Facts will. You are hunting facts when you read the advertisements. Facts about products, what they are, their worth, how long, how willingly they will slave for you.

When you buy, you want to buy facts—certainties of satisfaction.

Advertisements contain no vague theories or dreams. In their frankness is nothing to confuse. They give you facts. They give you your best ammunition for getting hold of more facts.

Use them. Read them every day.

Advertising removes all risk from buying.

Uncle Sam and Siam

Something new in international relations appears in current intercourse between the United States and Siam. The two countries are co-operating in a scheme for general human welfare, and doing it with unusual grace and good-will toward each other.

Siam appears to have started this chapter by sending the United States chaulmoogra trees, in furtherance of the cure for leprosy discovered a few years ago. Those trees are now acclimated in Louisiana, and are furnishing the oil by which American physicians are curing leprosy in the Philippines and other American possessions. Furthermore, Uncle Sam lately has been shipping American-grown chaulmoogra trees to Central and South American countries, and to Abyssinia, for the same beneficial purpose. Thus a good deed spreads.

In recognition of the original benefaction, the Department of Agriculture has recently sent a consignment of gifts to the King of Siam, including orange, lemon and alligator pear trees and other varieties of fruit unknown in Siam but considered capable of growing there.

The episode very properly raises the common estimate of the ruler of Siam, who is an excellent and highly cultured gentleman and more concerned with the promotion of human welfare than some of his royal brethren in Europe.

Church Pews and Prosperity

An interesting legal tangle, said to be without counterpart, so far as is known, has recently come to light in Chicago. An ancient church property to be sold, but it appears that when church members paid for their pews 50 years ago they received absolute title to the land underneath. The owner of every $600 pew became also owner of 1-190th part of the church property. And now the church and ground it stands on cannot be sold until 50 former pew-holders or their heirs have been found and have signed the necessary papers.

Law should be very specific and very clear, and to be worth anything at all in the definition and protection of rights, it must be rigidly adhered to while it is in force. But there are many queer cases similar to this, in effect if not in detail, in which present and needed action is rendered impossible by an ancient law or legal arrangement. Funds forever tied up in idleness because the worthy purpose to which they were originally dedicated no longer exists from many common cases of this sort.

Cannot some time limit or legal procedure be established which would make possible, after a long enough period of years, to cut some of these Gordian knots and release the property or the money for proper current needs and uses?

Sanity

"Sanity" and "insanity," it appears, are merely legal terms. They are convenient classifications of human beings for legal purposes. Roughly, they may be understood to mean that a "sane" man is a man able at any particular time to take reasonable care of himself and his affairs and not interfere unreasonably with other people and their affairs. An "insane" man is the opposite. But obviously there can be no hard and fast line between them.

The alienists in the Franks murder trial were very careful not to use either term. They explain that they are speaking only as psychologists, professing a special knowledge of the human mind. The conclusion the average citizen, perhaps, forms from their testimony, is that the murderers in this celebrated case are neither sane nor insane, but on the shadowy border-line between the two, with their minds easily turning one way or the other—with an intellectual side that is plainly quite sane, and yet with an emotional side which often drags the intellect across the line to serve dark purposes.

Many other persons, no doubt, are in a similar plight, being neither sane nor insane, or possibly both sane and insane at the same time, if that is conceivable.

Kitchen Marathons

It is duly set down by the Department of Agriculture that an Iowa woman, suspecting that she was doing a great deal of walking around the kitchen, bought a pedometer and wore it at work for a few days, while preparing meals for her family of three. She found that her kitchen marathon averaged five miles a day.

Being an intelligent woman, this housewife surmised that she was walking more than the job required. She made a study of her kitchen requirement and processes, and rearranged and re-routed everything, then put on the pedometer again and discovered that she had saved two and one-half miles a day. She now has that much more time for reading, writing and sewing. And whatever the men folks may think, she is still getting all the exercise she needs.

This is the time of year when people all over this glorious country are wiring for money to get back home.

RUNS AUTO OVER WIFE AND FRIEND

Act of Maddened Husband Kills Man and Injures Woman

Niagara Falls, Ont., Sept. 29.—Smylie Mulhead, 37, of this town was killed and Mrs. Frank Barnhard of London, Ont., was seriously injured when they were run down by an automobile driven by Frank Barnhard, Mrs. Barnhard's husband, from whom she is separated.

Barnhard is reported to have been maddened by his wife's refusal to return to him.

Barnhard drove away from the scene of the tragedy and police are searching for him.

Witnesses of the fatality say that Barnhard deliberately drove over a curb and onto the sidewalk where Mr. and Mrs. Mulhead and Mrs. Barnhard were walking, and ran them down.

Mrs. Mulhead succeeded in getting out of the way of the car, but Mulhead and Mrs. Barnhard were caught by it and thrown to the sidewalk. The wheels passed over Mrs. Barnhard's legs and body and Mulhead was dragged several feet.

Following their separation a year ago, Barnhard is said to have made several efforts at reconciliation with his wife. She is reported to have repulsed his advances. She was spending the week end at the home of the Mulheads.

Barnhard called at the Mulhead house and had a talk with his wife. She persisted in her determination to live apart from him and he became enraged.

He hung about the neighborhood and continued to annoy the woman, it is said, and in the afternoon the Mulheads and Mrs. Barnhard started for police headquarters, intending to ask the police to compel Barnhard to cease annoying his wife.

Barnhard saw them leave the home and is reported to have followed them.

B. & M. BOWLERS SHOWING PLENTY OF INTEREST

Capt. Chandler Likely to Handle the City League Team

In the makeup of the City Bowling League one of the proposed teams that is showing much interest is that of the Boston & Maine railroad. This team will likely be in the hands of Captain George Chandler, who has several times established local records, especially on the West End alleys. The captain finds it easy in his daily practice to turn in 90, 95, 100. He has been challenged by another railroad bowler for a match and interest is at a high pitch among the friends of both. Alley fans say the captain will have a merry-go-round when the chase is on.

SETS UP RECORD FOR TRAVEL

All this traveling has been done in the United States. He has been in every state in the Union except three—Arkansas, Oklahoma and one of the Dakotas.

One hundred nights out of every year for the past 30 years he has passed on railroad sleepers. He says he always arises early and has a standing reward of $1 for any porter who finds him asleep after 5.20 o'clock in the morning. He has paid this reward but once.

The financial report noted expenditures last year of $3,255.15, with a present balance in the treasury of $329.

COOMBS STANDS OUT AMONG PITCHERS IN WORLD SERIES

New York—Jack Coombs, an outstanding figure in the ascendancy of Connie Mack's old Philadelphia Athletics, holds the peak in World's Series pitching performances.

Christy Mathewson's three shutout victories over the Athletics in 1905 and Ed Rubeck's one-hit game in 1906 are among the greatest of all series twisting feats, but "Colby Jack" Coombs has the distinction of a perfect record in three series and in both big leagues. Coombs won four games for the MacLennan, including three against the Chicago Cubs in 1910 and one against the Giants in 1911; then five years later he turned in a victory for the Brooklyn Nationals over the Boston Red Sox.

Rubeck's victory for the Cubs over the White Sox was the closest; to a no-hit game in any series, "Jiggs" Donohue's single spoiled "Big Ed's" bid for a perfect game. Five each to the credit of Ed Walsh, "Three-fingered" Brown, Eddie Plank, Bill James of the Boston Braves "miracle team" and Walter Hoyt.

Four pitchers have won three games in a single series, with Mathewson's triple shutout triumph standing out as the best. Coombs won three against the Cubs in 1910. Babe Adams against Detroit in 1909 and Stanley Coveleskie against Brooklyn in 1920.

Of the last three series, all involving the New York Yankees and Giants, Hoyt was the star in 1921, allowing only two runs and 18 hits in three games; Jack Scott, with a four-hit shutout as the climax of his great comeback, shone in 1922 for the Giants; while last year Herb Pennock, southpaw star of the Yankees, was credited with two of his club's victories.

Details of Coombs' great record follows: Oct. 13, 1910, pitching for Athletics against Mordecai Brown, Chicago Cubs; won 9 to 3, allowing seven hits, striking out five men, and passing nine.

Oct. 20, 1910, pitching for Athletics against Ed Rubeck, Chicago Cubs; won 12 to 5, allowing six hits, striking out eight men and passing four.

Oct. 23, 1914, pitching for Athletics against Brown, Cubs; won 7 to 2, allowing nine hits, striking out seven men and passing nine.

Oct. 17, 1911, pitching for Athletics against Christy Mathewson, New York Giants; won 3 to 2, in 11 innings, allowing three hits, striking out seven men passing four.

Oct. 10, 1923, pitching for Brooklyn against Carl Mays, Boston Red Sox; won 4 to 3, allowing seven hits in six and one-third innings, striking out one man and passing one.

WINTER KILLING PEACH TREES

Concord—Visitors at fairs in New Hampshire this fall must have noted that fewer peaches were exhibited by growers than in some other years. Peaches were displayed, big, juicy, luscious ones, but there were not as many plates and baskets piled high with them as have sometimes been seen.

A Merrimack county orchardist who always wins prizes at the Hopkinton fair, solved the peach mystery.

"Many peach trees were winter killed," he said, "mine among them. I had had big crops of peaches, but I did not pick one this year. We are really too far north to grow that particular fruit with consistent success; yet I have set out trees to replace those that succumbed to the cold and I expect to have peaches again. When the trees do survive the winter and the subsequent seasons are favorable, we raise peaches in New Hampshire of surprising quality. They are sweet and juicy and have a flavor that can hardly be matched by the best product of Delaware, Maryland and Georgia."

The man who said this ought to know, for the peaches that used to come from his orchard were about the finest that could be obtained and he has in good years harvested many bushels of them. Orchard men say that the peach tree is not long-lived at the best and a really rough New Hampshire winter is usually too much for it, while a dry season is sure to cut down the crop, even if the tree gets through the cold months; but the product is so fine in the year when conditions are good that there is constant temptation to keep trying, no matter how many failures the peach growers may have to endure.

CRASH VICTIM'S HUSBAND BLAMES AN OLD INJURY

Haverhill, Mass., Sept. 29.—Judge John J. Winn in the district court Saturday continued for two weeks the case of George H. Mason of Atkinson, N. H., on a charge of operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor, to permit the police to submit evidence about Mason's normal condition.

Judge Winn questioned Mason, inquiring whether he had drunk cider or whiskey, as the accused was unsteady and Mason answered in the negative. Mason informed the court that his head was injured in an accident 13 years ago and the old injury was aggravated by the automobile accident last Saturday evening, when his wife, Sadie A. Mason, died of a fractured skull. He admitted that he had two small drinks of cider last Saturday and had not drunk any liquor since the fatal accident.

FORM POULTRY ASSOCIATION

Poultry Men in Maine Seek to Cut Big Spread in Egg Prices

Augusta, Me., Sept. 29.—Frank D. Lord of Lebanon, one of the largest poultrymen in Maine, recently received only 20 a dozen for a shipment of eggs sent to Boston when the market was around the 60-cent mark. Out of this price Mr. Lord had to pay express and commission, which left him so little that he now resents the fact that the city consumer was forced to pay 85 cents per dozen for his eggs. To meet these conditions, Mr. Lord has united with other Maine poultrymen to cut down the spread in prices between themselves and the consumer. They have organized the Maine Poultry Producers' Association, a co-operative marketing organization owned and controlled by the egg men themselves, by which they plan to eliminate many of the unnecessary middlemen. This organization can sell direct to a high class retail trade and return to the producer all the profits or marketing. Mr. Lord has signed a contract with this organization to deliver all his eggs to them for a period of three years. Nor is he alone in this decision, for poultrymen owning a total of 44,000 hens have signed similar contracts. One of the big producers to sign is Carl N. Davis of Rockland, who owns 1500 Rhode Island Red layers, and who is eager to market his eggs through the co-operative organization.

KITTERY

Regular services were held at the Second M. E. Church on Sunday. At the morning service the pastor told a very interesting story for the children. The subject for the regular sermon was "Reliable Christians." The pastor read the story of ten men for the scripture lesson. He took for his text, "Our lamps have gone out." The pastor gave several illustrations of unreliable Christians and he pointed out what a true Christian should do. He said a reliable Christian will seek God's words first, and also seek service in the kingdom. The church should come first in our lives and if we are to be reliable Christians we should seek those things that would help us. Some of the things we can do to improve us are: Church attendance, Sunday School work, taking offices in the church and offering our time for church work. All these things help to improve our spiritual life. The subject of the evening sermon was "The Meaning of Friendship." The pastor told of the friendship of David and Jonathan and he named many other friendships that proved to be true. He pointed out the fact that Jesus was the greatest friend of all. To be a true friend we must love, we must have faith and we must sacrifice. Jesus did all these things for us. We should be more true to Him.

The home team outclassed the visitors and won easily, scoring in each period. The Blue and White aggregation showed a varied offense which was unexpected at this early stage of the season.

End runs, forward passes and line plunges all netted their share of the ground, with Capt. Cy Wentworth featuring with wide end runs and off-tackle thrusts. The New Hampshire leader was at his best and scored 29 of the home team's points. Abiatti, playing his first varsity game, broke through the middle of the visiting line and ran 20 yards for the fourth touchdown. The work of the New Hampshire line was one of the outstanding features of the game.

It was a one-sided game, Norwich getting two first downs in the first period, while Dartmouth got six in the first half and 10 in the second. The game was ragged for the most part, being marred by numerous fumbles and many misplays.

HIGH SCHOOL WINS WORLD FLIERS END FROM KENNEBUNK THEIR LONG FLIGHT

P. H. S. Players Take Game From Maine Return to Starting Point After Trip of Five Months and 22 Days

The High school football team on Saturday defeated Kennebunk High, 14 to 0, in a game in which the locals did not show quite as well as they did against the alumni. There was, however, more team work and even with the crippled backfield they were able to have the game well in hand all of the time.

Portsmouth scored in the first period after Fullam had nailed a forward pass and had traveled 40 yards before being pulled down a few yards from the Maine team's line and on the next play McCarthy went through for a touchdown. They did not score in the second period, but in the third the team rushed the ball down the field and Fullam in an off tackle play ran 15 yards for another touchdown. They were unable to score again, although always threatening.

Coch Rice had to use his second backfield, for both McCann and Simpson are out of the game with injuries and he used McCarthy at quarter and calling the signals. Cavaretto and Gelman were used at left half, Fred Noel at right half and Fullam at full-back. The backs made a very good showing and with Simpson and McCann back in the game the backfield looks on a par with the line, which is the best that ever represented the school.

Hartman, the big guard, was out of the game on account of injuries but Hett, a letter man last year, was used alternating with Wiggins. Voudy played the whole game at left and on the other side Flanagan and Clark were given a chance to show their wares and both did well. Ferrini and Captain Robinson held down the tackles and they were very much in the game.

Kennebunk has a good man in Kelsky, who was a constant threat to the locals. The locals showed much better team work and executed some of their plays well, but they are still far from letter perfect and will get at least four days a week practice.

It took a good many years to get together a combination of pain subduing and swelling reducing agents declared to be the one remedy that almost instantly penetrates through skin and flesh and starts right in to make swollen, inflamed, creaky, pain racked joints as good as new.

They call this new and wonderful preparation "Joint-Ease" because the medical man who turned the trick, worked for years to perfect some low-priced remedy that would really benefit the millions of people who have one or more joints that need helpful attention.

So "Joint-Ease" is prepared only for people who have a swollen, painful, creaky, distorted or stiff joint, whether it be in knee, elbow, shoulder, ankle, neck or finger and whether it is caused by rheumatism or something else.

Of course, it can't help but quickly put an end to such superficial ailments as lumbago, neuralgia, neuritis, aching muscles, aitch in the side, crick in the neck or sore feet because of its penetrating action, but what it is really recommended for is joint ailments of any nature whatever.

Ask for a tube of "Joint-Ease." You can use it several times in one evening for quick results, because it goes right through the skin with only a few seconds rubbing. It surely is a swift penetrator and when it gets under the skin, it starts right in to clean up all joint trouble.

Phillbrick's Pharmacy dispenses it daily for about 50 cents a tube, as do first class druggists everywhere. Always remember, when Joint-Ease gets in joint agony gets out—quick.

Every rheumatic sufferer ought to send today for free book, "The Inner Mystery of Rheumatism" (Just out) Address: H. E. Clearwater, box 800, Hallowell, Maine.

(By Associated Press)
Seattle, Wash., Sept. 29.—The American army round the world fliers completed the circuit of the globe Sunday afternoon landing at Sand Point field at 1:36 p. m. Pacific time. The weather was warm, approaching sultriness. Sirens shrieked as the planes flew over the city. Thousands of voices roared a welcome at the field. Among the first to greet the fliers was Major Martin.

Lieutenant Smith was the first to land. He was followed by Lieutenant Wade, then Lieutenant Nelson. Flying conditions were ideal as the aviators made their last trip.

Lieut. Leslie Arnold was hugged and kissed by his mother, Mrs. Cora Arnold, and his sister, Mrs. Frances Cole of Spokane, Wash., who had not seen him since he started on the flight that made history in aviation circles, when he alighted.

Among the salient features of the United States army globe-encircling flight that ended yesterday were:

The flight was started officially by four planes from Seattle, Washington, 8:30 a. m. Sunday, April 6, under command of Maj. Frederick L. Martin in the flagplane Seattle, and was completed Sunday—five months and 22 days—by two of the original machines and the Boston II, a spare air cruiser sent to Pictou harbor, Nova Scotia for Lieut. Leigh Wade, whose machine was wrecked near Faroe islands, Aug. 21.

The aviators originally left Santa Monica, Cal., March 17, but, because of delays in substituting pontoons for landing gear here, the official hop-off was made from Seattle, cutting 10 days off the journey.

The personnel of the flight included Major Martin, commander and his mechanic, Staff Sgt. Alva L. Harvey, who were missing for 10 days after their flag plane Seattle was wrecked April 20, on a mountain near Port Moller, Alaska peninsula, on the Bering sea coast, and who were forced to quit the expedition; Lieut. Lowell H. Smith, commander after Major Martin's accident, pilot of the flag plane, Chicago; Lieut. Erik H. Nelson, pilot of the New Orleans; Lieut. Leigh Wade, pilot of the ill-fated Boston, and mechanics, Lieutenants Leslie P. Arnold, John Hardings Jr. and Henry H. Ogden.

The route of the aviators traversed or touched 21 foreign countries and 25 states and one territory of the union.

A total of 57 hops were made, an average of 483 miles each jump. With each air cruiser consuming 20 gallons of gasoline in an hour of flying, the three planes used in approximately 351 flying hours, 21,000 gallons. Each plane used about 30 gallons of oil every 2,400 miles, and in the 27,534 mile flight the machines had 1,620 gallons of oil.

Two minutes after they stepped from their planes at Sand Point Sunday, each of the six army aviators completing the world flight was handed the following telegram from President Coolidge:

"On final completion of your flight, I desire to again offer my congratulations and express to you the thanks of your country.

"Under the law I do not understand that I have authority suitably to reward you by promotion and other appropriate action.

"I wish, however, to announce to you that on the convening of Congress I shall recommend that such authority be granted in order that your distinguished services may have a practical recognition from your country."

Platinum and gold rings containing bloodstones were presented to each of the aviators.

TRAIPO LOSES OPENING GAME

Kittery Team Defeated at South Berwick By Score of 6 to 0

Traip Academy lost its opening game on Saturday to Berwick Academy at South Berwick 6 to 0. It was a close game in which Traip had the better of the going the most of the game until a blocked punt was recovered by Glidden who carried it across the line for the only score.

Traip showed a better defense than Berwick and held the Academy team at all stages of the game, but their attack failed. The team, however, considering the new material, make a fine showing and with a week's more practice and with the confidence they gained from the Saturday game, they will be going good.

with your GAS man

The other day the gas, electric, and street car executives in a certain State held a business meeting. Sitting in the meeting with them were representatives of the public—men and women customers—who were invited to attend.

At the end of the meeting one man rose to his feet and said to the public utility executives: "You men are certainly doing your part. I think that we—your customers—ought to meet you half-way, for ultimately we will benefit the most." Others said the same thing and volunteered friendly cooperation.

That meeting added a new chapter to the history of public relations. There is nothing secret about the gas business or any public utility business. People are beginning to understand this fact and the result is better service for everybody.

SEEK FIREBUG AT OLD ORCHARD

Old Orchard Beach, Sept. 29.—Fearing that a firebug is at work in Old Orchard Beach, Police Chief Louis M. Fowler is conducting an investigation, following the destruction by fire last night of the cottage on Central Park Ave., owned by Mrs. A. A. Palmer of Lewiston. Police believe the same person was responsible for the fire on Sept. 25 which destroyed a wooden block owned by Walter Stone of Methuen, Mass.

The fire yesterday started in the garage, Fisher Park, a neighbor, told the police the garage was burning before the cottage was touched, and police think that someone gained access to the garage and started the blaze. The damage was $4000.

METHODIST NOTES

There will be a business meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society in the vestry Tuesday, Sept. 30, at 4 p. m. Supper will be served at 5 o'clock to which the public is invited.

The Southern district of the New Hampshire Conference will hold a great meeting in St. Paul's church, Manchester, on Friday, Oct. 3, beginning at 10 a. m. Two bishops will be present and take part. Bishop W. F. Anderson, the new presiding bishop of the Boston area, will conduct the meeting. Bishop Herbert Welch of Korea will also bring splendid messages to this gathering of Methodists.

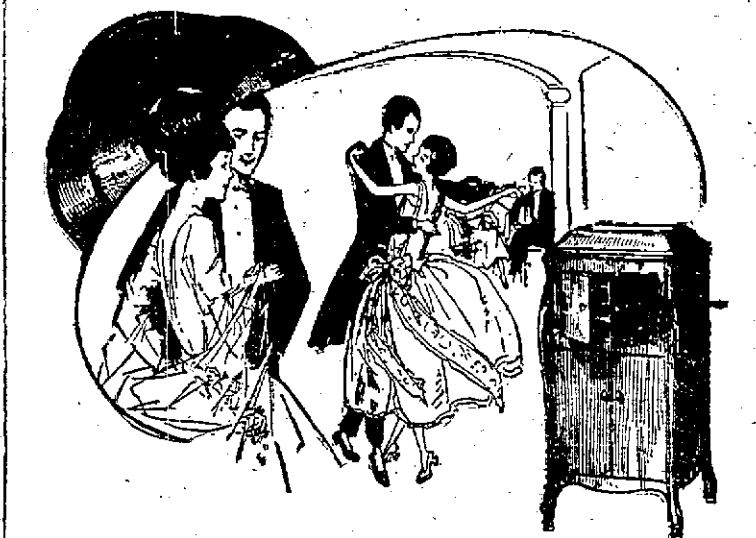

The emphasis will be laid upon three important phases of church life, viz., the spiritual life of the church members, Evangelism, and the World Service program. The public is invited.

Next Sunday will be Loyalty Sunday in the local Methodist church, including Rally Day exercises in the Sunday school. All the services will strike the note of loyalty to Christ.

The monthly meeting of the Philathea class will be held at the parsonage on Thursday evening at 7.30.

POLICE COURT

William M. Worden charged with speeding appeared in court this morning. He pleaded guilty and paid costs of $5.32. His case was placed on file.

No Cover Charge! When You Dance to Victrola

—nor do you slip the orchestra a tip for an encore. The famous orchestras and the latest hits are all on Victor records. When you buy Victor records, you own the music and can play it, and dance to it, whenever you feel like it. And don't forget they play best on a Victrola instrument—they're made to do that, and a Victrola is made for them. There are other instruments more cheaply made—they cost about the same—but we pay our public the compliment of not selling them.

If you like to dance, come in and hear the latest dance records.

CLIMB RIGGING AS YAWL SINKS

Three Members of Fishing Party Saved After Long Wait

Marblehead, Mass., Sept. 29.—Capt. William H. Hanson of Salem and Leonard B. Ives and John H. Sheedy of Beverly, who had climbed into the rigging of the yawl, Jack O'Lantern of Salem, when the boat sank off Eagle Island yesterday afternoon, were rescued early last night by a volunteer life saving crew from this town.

Harry Merritt of Salem and W. S. Lang of Beverly, who were also on board the yawl at the time she sank, made for shore in the yawl's tender to summon aid, but before they landed the yawl's disaster was noticed by Orlando Rouland, who notified the police.

The five men started in the Jack O'Lantern from Salem Sunday morning on a fishing trip. At 3.30 in the afternoon they became stranded on a sand bar near Eagle Island. The boat failed to rise with the incoming tide. It was after 7 o'clock when their predicament was discovered from shore and 8 o'clock when the three men in the rigging, in exhausted condition, were safe on shore. They were taken to a local hospital where they remained for the night.

EXETER MAN IS BADLY INJURED

Car Driven By John Nichols Turns Turtle at Franklin

Franklin, Sept. 29.—John Nichols of Exeter was severely injured here Sunday afternoon when his car turned turtle as he attempted to cut around traffic just south of the Kendrick underpass. He was taken to the Franklin hospital.

The Nichols party, shortly after noon was proceeding south of Franklin below the Kendrick underpass, when in cutting around traffic, Nichols lost control and the car turned turtle.

Nichols, at first thought to have suffered a fractured skull, is reported as being badly cut about the face and head and suffering from numerous sprains.

Isadore Labbe and Paul Labbe of Exeter and Edwin Labbe of Amesbury, Mass., other occupants of the wrecked machine, were badly shaken up, but did not require hospital care.

KITTERY POINT

Kittery Point, Sept. 29.—Mr. and Mrs. Everett Riley have returned to their home in Manchester, N. H., after visiting Charles Riley for a week.

Miss Maud Belknap and her mother who have been passing the summer at Kittery Point returned to Boston today.

Walter Anderson entertained a party of his young friends and school mates at his home on Saturday evening, the occasion being the thirteenth birthday anniversary. Much fun was enjoyed during the evening playing games and having a good time. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served. Walter was the recipient of a number of fine birthday presents. At a late hour the young folks returned to their homes thanking Walter for the fine time given them and wishing him many more happy birthdays.

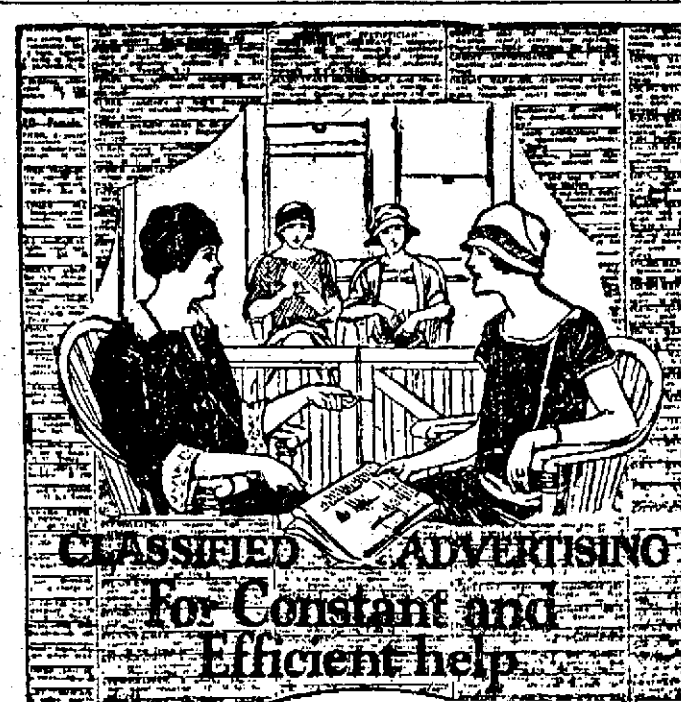

Miss Ethel M. Bayless of Stony Brook, N. Y., who has been spending two weeks at Piscataqua Inn, returned to her home today.

BIG SARDINE PLANT IN MAINE IS CLOSED

Eastport, Me., Sept. 29.—The plant of L. D. Clark & Son, the largest sardine factory on the Maine coast, has closed for the season because of the scarcity of fish and an unfavorable market. The concern employed 300 persons and during the height of the season handled 100 hogheads of herring daily. On some days the plant has packed 400,000 cans of sardines.

The plant opened April 15 and the season generally continues until Nov. 30, but this year the concern has been forced to hold a large number of the canned product because of the low market price. This season's pack has amounted to about 200,000 cases of 100 cans each, worth about $4 a case. About half of them have been sold.

Seven other canneries here show no signs of closing this month. The Maine pack this year is estimated at 1,500,000 cases, nearly double that of last year. About all the herring caught this year were caught in Canadian waters; with the set price at 19 a hoghead.

Amesbury, Sept. 29.—Amesbury High opened its football season Saturday, winning from Exeter high 13 to 0.

GOOD BILL FOR COMING BOUTS

The fight men are in for a good show on Thursday evening when Leo Smith is staging as the main bout "Porkey" Diggins of Nashua against Tony French of Somersworth, and it promises to be somewhat of a session. Diggins has made a fine impression in this city and he went up in the local fans' estimation when he defeated Walter Lee who substituted for Joe St. Helaire when the latter side-stepped Diggins. Since that time Diggins has been in a good many battles and he is a hard hitting two fluted fighter who is willing at all times to mix. He is a better boxer than French and if one can get inside of that left jab of French's he will get the decision.

French is a tough customer and Diggins will know that he has been in the ring. He has had one decision over the Nashua lad in Boston but has never been able to get a return date, so that Diggins is most anxious to get another try and if he is in the same condition that he was the night he fought Walter Lee there will be something doing.

The semi final is a six round argument between Young Tourcotte of Somersworth and Young Doyle of Beverly who comes very highly recommended.

Walter Scott of Rochester is showing in four rounds with Sallor Kowolski of the U. S. S-19, and another preliminary will be that of Young Kelley of Newmarket and Young Valie of Somersworth.
